HAVANA, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The tense Cuban political situation, marked by desultory shooting for several days and the deaths of at least six persons, today caused the serious injury of a youth claiming to be an American citizen and resulted in Havana and environs being placed under martial law.

Arturo Tagle y Soria, a 24-year-old student of Key West, Fla., was shot by a policeman while engaged in a demonstration at Prado and Virtudes avenues, in the center of the capital's downtown district, and was not expected to live when taken to the emergency hospital.

He was said to have lived in Havana for four years but had retained his American citizenship. When told that some sources questioned his citizenship, he still persisted that he was an American.

Soldiers took control of Havana
and its suburbs today after President Machado exercised the authority invested in him by congress more than a month ago to suspend constitutional guarantees. The decree at first was interpreted to cover all Cuba, but the president tonight announced only Havana and its environs were affected.

The president's drastic action followed sporadic disorders. One person was killed and 50 were injured at Santiago de Cuba in a clash between several hundred demonstrators and police Monday.

This was followed by rioting in the streets of Havana and the accidental death of Mercedes Barbaress, who was struck by a stray bullet as she watched a street disturbance from a window. Four other persons were killed in shooting in various parts of the city today.

Much of the trouble is laid to students, and the government this morning ordered normal and elementary schools closed. At the same time students were prohibited from gathering in the streets, the clashes later resulting from their refusal to obey the decrees.

While students and others attempted various demonstrations, most of Havana's householders remained indoors for safety today and the streets were largely deserted.

One incident of the trouble was the refusal of the newspapers El Dia and Hermano de La Mañana to publish because they objected to government ownership of certain articles intended for today's issues. It was the first time in 18 years that the latter paper had been closed. Senorita Barbaress, the girl killed last night, was a sister-in-law of the chief editor of Diario De La Marina.

With the proclamation of martial law the police were relieved of their 24-hour vigil, heavily armed soldiers taking over the patrolling of the capital.

Atlanta To Witness Aerial Sham Battle

Atlanta is to be given a series of demonstrations on the development of the latest phase of modern warfare involving anti-aircraft combat, when the 89th coast artillery regiment
reaches Fort McPherson on Novem-

The regiment will stop here for that period on its overland journey from the Aberdeen, Md., proving ground to Fort McPherson, Ala., which has been designated as its temporary station.
The unit is in command of Lieutenant Colonel James B. Taylor.

NAMING OF BOARDS CENTERS INTEREST FOR METHODISTS

North Georgia Confer- ence Opens 64th Annual Session at Wesley Mem- orial Church.

BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.
Interest of the North Georgia Methodist conference, in its 64th annual session at Wesley Memorial church Thursday, centered around the naming of the new four-year boards and committees authorized by the Dallas general conference last May, some 25 or 30 in number, and the retirement of ministers who have continued in the pastorate until age or broken health warranted their superannuation. Eight ministers asked the superannuate relation, the largest number ever known to retire at one session of the church body. This number of veterans retiring is offset by a class of 11 young men who are applying for admission into the conference on trial.

The new board of Christian education, naming John S. Candler, of Atlanta, president. Other members are as follows: Revs. Lester Rumble, S. T. Senter, Elmer Thompson, G. M. Eakes, W. S. Robinson, F.
E. Jenkins, Z. C. Hayes, Jr., L. M.
Twigg, A. L. Hale, S. A. Harris,
W. W. Carroll, J. H. Barrow. Laymen named on this board as follows: C. Wardlaw, G. C. White, W. Wynn, N. F. Fisk, E. L. Jackson, Dr. J. M. Verdel, of Duluth, J. O. Futral, H. T. Quillian, I. S.
Ingram, Mrs. L. M. Awtry and Miss Lois L. Laidley.

This new and enlarged board comes to be the most important board, possible in the conference organization, since it is the result of the merging of the former board of education, the former Sunday school board, and the new board will have direction of all religious education throughout the church, reaching out to the remotest congregation in the rural districts, in touch with efforts of the denomination throughout the entire conference.

Rev. H. C. Emory, presiding elder of the Gainesville district, reported the erection of a new $24,000 church at Dahlonega, and the removal of an $8,000 debt at Lawrenceville. When Rev. L. M. Twigg, presiding elder of the Griffin district, had completed his report the bishop presented him a small package, coming as a gift from the preachers and laymen of the district, among whom Mr. Twigg has been laboring the past four years. Information as to what the package contained was not divulged.

Ask Superannuation.
Eight ministers of the conference had their names referred to the committee for the superannuate relation, including Rev. J. S. Askew, of the Dunwoody charge; Rev. C. A. Norton, of Atlanta, pastor of the Cascade avenue church; Rev. A. A. Sullivan, of the Augusta St. Luke church; Rev.
A. A. Tiley, of the Lakewood Heights and East End charge; Rev. W. B.
Taylor, Rev. C. M. Verdel, of Duluth,
Rev. J. D. Milton, of Decatur, and Rev. V. A. Roark, of the Monticello circuit.

Address by Bishop.
The conference heard with interest
the address of Bishop John M. Moore this morning with an appeal that Methodists of every walk make their ministry more telling and effective in

RUPTURE FEARED AS NATIONS SEEK TO REDUCE ARMS

England Joins Russia and Germany in Demanding Action; France and Al- lies Oppose Plans.

GENEVA, Nov. 13.—(UP)—A definite split between the principal world powers now negotiating preliminary disarmament was revealed today in a stormy session of the preparatory disarmament commission.

The disagreement, based in a debate over limitation of war materials by budget reductions as against direct scrapping of armaments, will require a measure of deft diplomacy to prevent a thorough deadlock.

To forestall this threatened deadlock, delegates from Germany, Russia, the United States and Italy joined today with the delegation from England, France, Japan and Greece, advancing an offer of a compromise resolution.

The powers favoring disarmament
by budgetary restriction offer, in this compromise, to draft a treaty maintaining budget limitation with the possibilities of reservations for the individual powers that favor a direct cut in armaments.

The tactics of Count Johann N. Von Bernstorff, of Germany, ardent supporter of direct limitation, indicated
today that Germany was doing its utmost to force delegates attending the present session to vote yes or no on the method of limitation.

This method of attack would meet with firm opposition from many of the smaller allies and friends of France. These lesser powers want to keep their present supply of armaments because of their industrial weakness. Highly industrialized nations could scrap their present war materials, they point out, and in case of war manufacture new armaments virtually overnight.

The debate today, centering about the failure of nations to accept disarmament, was led by M. M. Litvin-off, soviet delegate who has persistently advocated immediate acceptance.
By Lord Cecil of England and by Count Von Bernstorff.

Lord Cecil characterized the present negotiations as "a hopeless negotiation," and to report to the court
"with his advice, as to whether or not there should be a continuance of this business or any branch thereof."

Mr. Douglas was directed to continue in his employ all employees of the company necessary to assist him in the performance of his duties as receiver. He also was authorized to apply alone or in conjunction with the complainant for the appointment of ancillary receivers in other federal jurisdictions.

The order also asked the receiver to file a complete inventory of all property of the company. A $50,000 bond was ordered filed.

All creditors of Caldwell & Co. were enjoined from prosecuting claims except in the federal district court here.
Mr. Dean's bill stated that he is a creditor of Caldwell & Co. to the extent of more than $7,000. He said the Nashville investment banking house has assets "in excess of the sum of several million dollars, and that its assets at a fair value are probably more than sufficient to pay its liabilities, but that on account of the condition of the security market,
a large portion of its assets is not readily realized upon, and it is unable to raise money to continue its operations and to meet its obligations as they mature."

News of Momentous Import Crowds World's Wires Thursday

Not in any single day for many years has such a flood of internationally important news stories poured in upon American readers over foreign cables and domestic wires, as has been carried during the past 24 hours.

Beginning with the tragic landslide at Lyons, France, in which 50 persons are believed to have been killed, and running through to the attempted assassination of Premier Hamaguchi in Tokyo Friday morning (Tokyo time), both hemispheres are represented in the day's report of unusual events. Among other developments of widespread interest have been:

Cuba: Fatal rioting for hours, leading American to declaration of martial law in Havana.
Peru: Americans and foreigners, in grave peril from maddened natives, flee to Lima.
England: Government of India
makes proposals that may change course of history in Indian empire.
Switzerland: Great Britain and Russia join in denouncing nations not failing to disarm at Geneva conference.

Spain: Government decides to abandon dictators' ip, resorting to popular elections.
Burma: Hundreds killed in cyclone, as whole towns are blown off map.

England: Leading prelates of Church of England join in belief reunion of Christian faiths is at hand.
France: Government heads under heavy fire in chamber of deputies on foreign policies, but win.
England: American bankers believed conferring with British on proposals for world moratorium on war debts.

Subscriptions of $50,210.10 were reported Thursday by campaign workers in the eighth annual Community Chest drive launched Wednesday. A goal of $598,550 has been set by the campaign committee, headed by Herbert N. Hutchinson, who after hearing the reports made at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel declared he is "confident the goal will be reached."

Though more than 200 workers representing every division in the field attended Thursday's luncheon
all the groups reported and some lacked reports from individual members, an indication to campaign leaders that the amount thus far obtained actually is considerably more than the amount reported.

The first luncheon meeting of the campaign workers showed marked enthusiasm and led committee heads to assert they believed the greater evidence among the poor of the city was the basis for added impetus.

In reports of the various divisions three Atlanta firms were credited with 100 per cent subscriptions
among their employees, the Fulton National Bank, the Direct Stores, a subsidiary of the large-Ryan Company, and the J. M. Tull Rubber & Supply Company. Each of these firms was presented a "100 per cent certificate" by Chairman Hutchinson.

The social service group, composed of all operating social service agencies, reported itself over the top at the end of the first day of the campaign.
The group, which has at least one reported subscriptions totaling $3,300, its members pledging themselves to continued effort in order that the goal
may be further surpassed.

The women's division, operating under the direction of Mrs. S. F. Boykin, reported $11,450 of which $10, 000 is credited to the advance gifts committee of the division, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frank Collins.
S. C. Dobbs, co-chairman with E.
R. Black, of the "big" gifts committee, said the women's division has already made a record for itself in that although no compilation had been made he was "proud to be able to inform his fellow workers that the department, it develops, has raised for the end of the campaign on November 25."

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that Mr. Black and myself and those usually give large amounts ready this year not only to keep up their good work but in some instances to go far beyond it," Mr. Dobbs declared. "From some of our subscribers we're getting twice as much as last year, for they feel the need is greater and the work to be accomplished by the Chest at this time is one of the greatest possible."

The second report is to be made at luncheon today at the Ansley.
Robert M. Strickland, Jr., vice president of the First National bank,
one of the youngest bank executives in the south, will be a speaker at the luncheon-meeting today and will discuss the business aspects of the Chest and the community chest which is organized in the city of Atlanta has at Atlanta Clearing House Association, which has always been one of the substantial contributors of the Chest.

Other questions submitted to the district attorney involved the consent of adjacent property owners for the erection of a tunnel, it was said.
Still another element of uncertainty
has been injected into the case by reports that District Attorney Hager has expressed the view that the price asked by the several property owners
is too high.

District Attorney Hager is understood to be giving his attention to the several questions raised by the department and is expected to make a report
as soon as possible.

Congress has authorized an appropriation of $2,875,000 for the Atlanta
project, including the cost of a site.
The price to be paid the property owners is in the neighborhood of $800,000.

SENATOR CHARGES DELIBERATE FRAUD TO POSTAL HEADS

Says Disclosures in Leas- ing of Sub-Station Sites Will Rival Teapot Dome for Scandal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Senator John J. Blaine, chairman of the senate committee investigating postoffice leases, charged tonight that lessors of postoffice buildings and sites had conspired with the postal department to deceive the United States budgeting authorities for the benefit of the lessees.

"Moreover," Senator Blaine told newspapermen at the close of today's hearing, "this affair is likely to develop into a nationwide scandal that will not be dwarfed by Teapot Dome."
The senator's charges came in the course of his questioning of Jacob Kulp, head of a Chicago investment house, on the latter's leases to the government of the commercial sub-station at St. Paul and the Quincy station at Chicago.

Senator Blaine had asked Kulp
what consideration he gave to the government in return for having the cancellation clause removed from the lease of the two postal stations, and Kulp replied that he had granted a reduction in the previously agreed rent and had spent money attending the footings of the St. Paul office so that three additional stories might be built if needed.

"That is absurd," Blaine declared.
"There is not an engineer or architect of repute living who would risk his reputation trying to put three stories on the (St. Paul) commercial station. The building would collapse."

"The whole business is a conspiracy and nothing more," the senator said.
"We will show that all these agreements regarding extra space were part of a conspiracy to get these new leases, without the cancellation clause, past the director of the budget and for no other reason."

"There was no intention on the part of anyone to use that extra space," Kulp was ordered to produce his records relating to the two leases.

TITLE INSPECTION DELAYS NEW P. O.

Unforeseen Complications May Necessitate Change in Site of Atlanta Build- ing.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Depart-

for the new federal building at Atlanta have been beset with so many complications that further indefinite delay in consummation of the deal seemed certain today, while the suggestion was raised at least one quarter that it might be necessary for the government to seek another site altogether.

Legal phases of the Atlanta site were referred to the department of some months ago, or shortly after the federal building commission definitely decided on the property embraced in the block bounded by Spring, Hunter, South Forsyth and Mitchell streets.

of the title to the Atlanta property has been delayed since May, but now
the department, it develops, has already decided that the price asked for the site is too high.

ing feasibility of the proposed tunnel connecting the new building with the Atlanta Terminal station and to examine local statutes to determine whether the city of Atlanta has attached any conditions to the price
asked by the several property owners
for the site.

nel, Mr. Hager has informed the de-

Architect, Former Atlantan, Discusses Traffic Problem

Georgia Tech Graduate, Here on Visit, Amazed at Growth of City.

Need for an immediate solution of Atlanta's downtown traffic problem if the city is to keep up its building progress was voiced here Thursday by W. Pope Barney, nationally known architect of Philadelphia, in Atlanta for a brief period to renew friendships formed when he was a student at Georgia Tech 20 years ago.

"In planning its residential districts, Atlanta, like many other American cities, has taken great care of its zoning to make certain that nothing can arise in the future to decrease the valuation of the property," Mr. Barney said. "I am amazed at the wonderful growth of Atlanta, its great buildings and its rushing business, but I am surprised to find the traffic problem so great.

"There is no parking place of consequence downtown. Builders should so design their structures that in after years if the necessity arises a strip may be cut off the properties on which they are erected and streets widened."

Mr. Barney, a college day protege of John K. Otley and other leading Georgians, was a member of the Tech class of 1911, an honor student in the first architectural class to be graduated at the local institution. After graduation he became associated for a short time with the firm of Norman, Henz & Reid and W. C. Downing, after which he moved to Philadelphia, where he is now a member of the Philadelphia Art Alliance.

Last year he was awarded the gold medal of the American Architectural League for his design of the American Bank & Trust Company building in Philadelphia.

COURTHOUSE BATTLE TAKES SECOND VICTIM

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Nov. 13. (AP)—A gun duel on the courthouse lawn today had claimed its second victim. He was Deputy Sheriff Howard McCallum, who died last night in a hospital from a bullet wound close to the heart.

McCallum and Andrew Massey, 26, fought each other with guns from behind trees on the lawn Tuesday after Massey and his father had been questioned about a break into a school building. Massey was shot and killed when Sheriff Carl Ryder was attracted by the firing and entered the fray.

COTTON IS DIAGNOSED AS 'AILING' MONARCH

Crop Experts Say Outlook Still Gloomy for Staple Grower.

Cotton will always be the agricultural monarch of the south, but he is an ailing king now and the chances for his immediate recovery are not bright, economists from 12 states said here Thursday.

The crop experts, working in conjunction with the federal outlook conference for the south, issued their cotton report independently of the federal economists, who are prevented by law from making such predictions.

"The outlook for cotton farmers is not much, if any, more promising than a year ago," the report said. It was drawn by a committee composed of D. W. Watkins, of South Carolina; J. R. Fain, of Georgia; H. A. Graham, of Oklahoma, and J. D. Pope, of Alabama. The conference, at which 12 southern states and the United States department of agriculture are represented, acquiesced in its adoption as a supplemental report to the federal cotton outlook.

It is "absolutely necessary" that cotton planters consider some means of readjustment to improve their incomes, the report said.

Smaller acreage may be expected next year "over the south as a whole," the committee reported, and with that in mind said "it is impractical that a cut in acreage shall take place uniformly over the belt."

Voluntary or forced collective action for cotton planters is "not practical," the report stated, but growers must be allowed to make up their own minds what they want to do. Hog producers "apparently have an opportunity to increase their incomes if proper plans are made for production," another report said.

Prospects favor a gradual improvement in the cattle situation next year, the report on cattle said.

The south offers to the local poultryman the benefit of a good home market," according to the report. "Farm prices for eggs in the southeast are relatively high."

Cheating Story Bars Student From College

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 13. (UP)—Cheating in college and the freedom of the press were involved in a controversy injected here today over the suspension from North Carolina State College of Milton A. Abernathy, Hickory, N. C., a junior.

C. H. Abernathy, father of Milton, today rejected suggestion of President E. C. Brooks that he withdraw his son from college.

Young Abernathy's situation results from his authorship of an article recently published in the Raleigh News and Observer, in which he said "the game of cheating at State College is unequaled by any other sport."

The student council suspended him for two years, with his ultimate return to school dependent upon no further publication concerning the college during the period of suspension. He appealed to a higher college court, composed of both faculty members and students, which will hear his case tomorrow. President Brooks will have final decision in the case.

Firemen Lose Phones; Alarms Offer Puzzle

BEACON, N. Y., Nov. 13.—(AP) The cry of "Fire!" into an Arlington telephone may bring henceforth instead of the fire department, the following exasperating statement from the telephone operator: "Sorry, but the line has been disconnected."

Taxpayers of Little Arlington, in Dutchess county, have vetoed a budget item to pay for phones in the homes of their firemen. Unless some other arrangement is made to pay for the phones the spreading of an alarm will be a serious problem.

BANKER KILLS WIFE, 3 CHILDREN AND SELF

Worry Over Fancied Financial Troubles Cause, Friends Believe.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 13.—(AP) R. W. Playford, 65, prominent banker-attorney, today killed his wife, three small daughters and himself, the tragedy occurring after a period of depression during which, friends said, Playford worried over financial troubles more fancied than real. Playford and his children died instantly. The shootings took place in the luxurious Playford residence this morning and Mrs. Playford remained in an unconscious state there until her death, her condition too critical for removal to a hospital. She was 45 years of age and before her marriage was Nancy Stirling, member of a prominent Baltimore family and a grandniece of the late Admiral Yates Stirling.

Tear Gas Again Rout Would-Be Bank Looters

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(AP) The Highwood State Bank at suburban Highwood probably was saved from robbery today by tear gas for the second time this year. Four men attempted to hold up the bank. Two entered, one stood guard outside and the fourth waited in an automobile, the motor running. Edgar Benson, assistant cashier, released the tear gas, and the would-be robbers coughed, cried and fled. They fired six shots at Benson but none took effect. Tear gas has frustrated a holdup of the bank several months ago. Prior to its use the bank was robbed of $3,000 last December 31.

Prison Board Refuses Plea For Mercy for Wash Smith

Governor Is Sole Hope Remaining for Banks County Youth Sentenced to Chair.

Unless Governor Hardman intercedes, Wash Smith, 21-year-old Banks county youth, will be electrocuted November 22 for the slaying of Jud Wells, prominent merchant and farmer of the same section, early in 1928. The state prison commission, acting Thursday on a plea heard the day before, declined to recommend clemency.

Smith, in his cell at Fulton Tower, still hopeful of executive action to save his life, Thursday repeated former statements that he shot the elder man following a quarrel over the girl the condemned man was engaged to marry.

While the youth was reiterating his trial plea—that of self-defense—Gus Wells, a brother of the dead man, was in Fulton Tower consulting the keepers for the admitted purpose of seeing that Smith does not escape. After a visit to the jail, Wells said he was going to the state capitol to see that nothing saved the boy from the chair.

The presidency of the club was accepted by Mr. Porter with the understanding that he would receive the co-operation of every member, which was agreed to unanimously. Mr. Porter has been an active member of the organization for a number of years and it is expected that the club will continue to grow and be a success under his leadership. He has served as president of the club before.

Fitting tribute was paid to Charles D. Atkinson, business manager of The Atlanta Journal, who died Monday.

The members of the club stood in silence for a moment in respect to his memory, and Mr. Porter in a few well-chosen words remarked on Mr. Atkinson's ability as an advertising man and the esteem in which he was held by his fellowmen.

The meeting was presided over by Bruce Mann, vice president of the Eastman-Scott agency.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Coughs

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet was introduced. Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds. One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish—no danger. Get a family package of Calotabs, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store.—(adv.)

NO VERDICT FOUND AT WILKINS TRIAL

Jury Locked Up for Night
After Four Hours of Deliberation.

The jury in the case of Dr. John G. Wilkins, former city physician, charged with extortion, was locked up for the night shortly before midnight, Thursday, after failing to reach a verdict in four hours of deliberation. Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, before whom the trial was heard, had given instructions that, in event a verdict was reached during the night, it be sealed until morning, when he left the courtroom at 10:20.

Receiving the case at 8 o'clock Thursday night, the jury reappeared in court after little more than an hour's deliberation and asked to be recharged on the law of extortions. Having again read the juryman the matter requested, Judge Pomeroy sent them back to continue their deliberations, and at 10:20 p. m. ordered a sealed verdict in case one should be reached during the night.

Testimony Thursday centered largely about statements made by several young women that they had paid various sums of money to Wilkins while he was city physician. Such money, the prosecution contended, was paid at his solicitation or demand, and for treatment administered by the official. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, in his argument, asked the jurors to give reasonable credence to the statements of the witnesses regardless of their regard for their social or moral status.

In a lengthy statement detailing each alleged transaction, Dr. Wilkins Thursday termed all of the witnesses named in the indictment as paying him money "liars." Wilkins, the only defense witness, charged that the state witnesses "were drilled," and he denied receiving fees from the women. "I have never demanded a penny from any of these women for treatment," he said.

Attorney Paul S. Etheridge, defense counsel, William Bentley opened the arguments, attacking methods alleged to have been used by Dr. Edwin Scott, an investigator, in getting evidence, and contending that none of the women was worthy of belief.

Assistant Solicitor-General J. Walter LeCraw pointed out that testimony of some of the women was supported by corroborating evidence and circumstances. LeCraw declared that Wilkins had admitted to Mrs. J. C. Davis, a city policeman, that he had charged money, and that in Wilkins' statement the defendant "admitted charging some women without naming them and said he did so because he bought the medicine with his own money."

Wilkins' associate city physician, Dr. S. D. Warnock, pleaded guilty Saturday to extortion charges and was fined $250.

ALLEGED BURGLAR TO BE TRIED HERE

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 13.—(P)—Don E. Harjoie recently acquitted here on charges of burglary and assault with intent to murder in connection with the attempted robbery of the American Railway Express office, was taken to Atlanta tonight on a Central of Georgia train by W. D. McGee, Atlanta city detective.

Harjoie will be tried on burglary charges lodged against him by Atlanta police, McGee said. Harjoie's companion in Savannah at the time of his arrest here several months ago, was William Eary, later released by Savannah police and still later found lying at the bottom of an elevator shaft of a building in Atlanta where an attempt to rob had also been made, according to Atlanta police.

ENDURANCE PLANE AND REFUELER CRASH

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(P)—An attempt to shatter the world's air-plane endurance record ended in double misfortune early today. The "American Legion" burned in a forced landing and in refueling ship.

"Miss Queens," fell into Jamaica bay near the Jamaica sea airport. Captain John S. Donaldson, promoter and pilot of the endurance ship, was uninjured, but his co-pilot, Edward Weiner, former war flier, suffered a broken ankle and lacerations.

Charles Soule, pilot of the refueling plane, and George Adams, his assistant on the hose, were drenched but were pulled out unhurt.

"THE CAT CREEPS" NOW AT CAPITOL

"The Cat Creeps," thrilling mystery melodrama, replete with shivery chills and quivery suspense, opens its run at the RKO Capitol theater this morning. Made from the celebrated stage play by John Willard, "The Cat and the Canary," there are more thrills in the foot of film in this picture than anything that has been seen and heard on the talking screen for a long time.

It is the kind of a play in which the audience never guesses the solution until the last, and Manager Thomas, of the Capitol, requests that those who have seen it do not spoil the pleasure of their friends by revealing the secret of the plot.

The cast is headed by the vivacious and lovely Helen Twelvetrees, while others among the players are Raymond Hackett, Lillian Tashman, Jean Hersholt, Neil Hamilton and Montagu Love.

Particularly interesting short screen subjects complete the Capitol's new program, which will run until Friday next, when "See America Thirst" will be presented.

Prominent Lay and Clerical Leaders at Methodist Conference

every conceivable phase of human interest and activity.

Pulses were quickened when the bishop made reference to politics, but he quickly advised his hearers that he had little fondness for party rivalries, and urged that Methodists so conduct their ministry as a denomination conserve the sacredness of citizenship.

Barrett Again Secretary.

The conference was organized, and Rev. George W. Barrett, of Commerce, re-elected secretary for the eighth time. Revs. M. M. Maxwell, C. W. Pruitt, William Greenway, Y. A. Beall, W. M. Twigg, H. L. Byrd, were chosen assistants, and Rev. O. E. Smith, of Culloden, statistical secretary. His assistants were named as Revs. H. G. Garrett, B. C. Matteson, H. C. Stratton, H. L. Gurley, F. I. Green, O. E. Vickery, W. B. Mills, J. L. Varner and J. E. Ward.

The conference stood in tribute of respect as the names of preachers dying this year were called, and Bishop Moore led the conference in prayer for families of the deceased. Those passing away were: Rev. W. W. Brinsfield, of Atlanta; Rev. W. T. Bell, of Decatur; Rev. W. L. Singleton, of Cumming; Rev. J. R. Speck, of Atlanta, and Dr. J. A. Sharp, of Young Harris.

The conference named the four-year committees and commissions, as authorized by the general conference. On the commissions are the names of laymen throughout the conference, and they will take an active part the next four years in shaping the policies of the denomination. Committees were named particularly for the following purposes: Budget, missions, education, hospitals, Sunday schools, Epworth leagues, finance, church extension, temperance and social service, Christian literature, Bible society, conference records, orphans home, conference relations, memoirs, superannuate homes, entertainment, lay activities and examining committees.

Raps Liquor Plan.

Dr. Ben H. Spence, of Toronto, Canada, enthused the conference with his address on prohibition conditions. Dr. Spence argued that government control in Canada had not proven a success, and that whisky drinking had been increased. He declared there is widespread dissatisfaction.

Bishop Moore was applauded heartily when he stated that he thought America had the best system of all. Bishop W. F. McMurray, of Min-

Visitors at the North Georgia Methodist conference which opened in Atlanta Thursday (above): Left to right, Dr. E. L. Crawford, of the Southern Methodist board of temperance and social service, of Washington, D. C.; Professor Leon F. Smith, of Wesleyan college, Macon; Dr. Ben H. Spence, of Toronto, Canada, whose address stirred the conference Thursday morning.

Rev. C. M. Lipham (lower left), of Newnan First church, preacher-architect. Mr. Lipham has drawn plans for and erected a dozen or more Methodist churches.

"INTERLUDE" TO END RUN ON SATURDAY

Manager Lewis Haase, of the Erlanger Theater, Thursday afternoon stated that the Saturday night performance of "Strange Interlude" would positively close the local engagement of the O'Neill play.

There have been rumors among theatergoers that the play would be held over for a second week, following the success of this week's run, but previous engagements of the Theater Guild Company, which is presenting it, prevent this, Mr. Haase said. The play, the greatest thing Eugene O'Neill has yet written, is in nine acts. The curtain rises at 5:30, and there is a dinner intermission from 7:40 to 9 o'clock. Final curtain falls at 11 o'clock.

"MEN OF THE NORTH" SHOWING AT GRAND

"MEN OF THE NORTH" with Gilbert Roland and Barbara Leonard, kiddie rears and other short screen subjects. Features starts at 11:30, 1:15, 3:00, 4:35, 6:45, 8:30 and 10:20.

"Men of the North," first-run talkie with scenes laid in that domain of wintry snow where the Northwest Mounted Police are presumed to invariably capture their man, opened at Loew's Grand theater on Thursday for a three-day run. Gilbert Roland and Barbara Leonard take the leading roles.

The picture is nothing to get excited about, although it provides a not too horsemans means of passing away an hour or so of spare time. It is just a program picture with an old, old plot—the one where the hero plays the desperate criminal for five reels and turns out to be one of nature's noblemen in the sixth, you know.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(P)—The White House announced today that President Hoover had been given assurance by republican and democratic floor leaders in the senate that no filibuster upon appropriation bills would be resorted to at the forthcoming session of congress to force an extra session.

Both leaders have expressed their desire and full co-operation to accomplish this. The fear and apprehension which have been expressed over reports that delay or filibuster would be resorted to to force an extra session of congress, have therefore no foundation."

FRENCH LANDSLIDE KILLS HUNDRED

LYONS, France, Nov. 13.—(AP)—This was a bitter night in Lyons as workmen thrust crowbars under the debris of 12 ruined homes, half fearful of what they would find beneath as the toll of a landslide today took perhaps as many as 100 lives.

As night fell they had recovered but three bodies in the ruins along the slope of the Fourviere hill where the ground slid out from under a dozen houses this morning, tumbling them in upon themselves and burying men, women and children.

Police and firemen hurried to the vicinity as the first thunderclap of the catastrophe startled the city. Twenty-five of them moved unafraid into the ruins to bring out the injured, and were buried under walls which toppled in upon them without warning.

About the scene of horror tonight the families of those who were lost sobbed as the work went slowly along. Volunteers were scarce after that group of police and firemen had perished, and the task of caring for the living appeared of even greater importance than that of searching for the bodies of the dead.

Engineers called from Grenoble hastily shored up buildings which remained standing in the vicinity; hospitals near the ruins were evacuated as a precautionary measure. The cathedral was opened to the survivors and hundreds of homeless crowded in, for it was the only place they had to spend the night.

Cardinal Maurin himself, who had narrowly escaped death or injury many times during the day as he moved about the ruins giving consolation where it was needed, supervised the temporary barracks into which he had turned his church.

As the night advanced and darkness made work impossible, the task of excavating the debris was halted, to be resumed at daybreak.

"We must dig for several days," said Commandant Pegout, of the fire department, "unless there is another

SEWAGE RELIEF SOUGHT FOR CITY

Legislation seeking relief from conditions caused by dumping millions of gallons of untreated sewage daily into streams in the vicinity of Atlanta will be sought at the next session of the Georgia legislature, with the backing of virtually every interest involved in the sanitation project, it became known Thursday.

Members of a special subcommittee representing all boroughs and county commissions of DeKalb and Fulton counties, at a session Thursday afternoon, instructed City Attorney James L. Mayson to prepare a legislative act to permit establishment of a properly constituted board to raise sufficient funds to carry out the recommendations of Whitman, Reardon & Smith, sanitary experts, who have completed a comprehensive survey of the problem faced by Atlanta and contiguous territory.

Either of the two following plans probably will be recommended, in accordance with discussions at the meeting:

1. Establishment of a sewer district including a territory of about 375 square miles.
2. Granting of authority to the council of Atlanta, composed of half a dozen boroughs and several unincorporated districts, to levy taxes and administer the sewer funds.

Either would be effective and would solve the problem, it was pointed out.

If the sewer district plan is decided upon a constitutional amendment probably will be necessary. If it is decided that the Atlanta council should carry forward the work an amendment to the charter creating Atlanta is all that would be necessary to begin work. The latter plan would be the more direct and would eliminate delays, it was declared.

When Mr. Mayson completes his study and prepares his draft he will submit it to a subcommittee named at Thursday's session, composed of Mayor Scott Candler, mayor of the borough of Decatur; Charles B. Shelton, Fulton county attorney; John Wesley Weeks, city attorney of the borough of Decatur, and Hugh Burgess, DeKalb county attorney.

GEORGIA EDUCATORS IN REGIONAL MEETING

Gainesville Host to 1,000
Delegates From Various Parts of State.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 13.—Education and its importance assumed greater significance Wednesday night and Thursday when leading educators and laymen delivered addresses at the regional conference of the Georgia Education Association here.

Preliminary to the regular one-day session at Brenan auditorium Thursday, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, president of the National Education Association, and Atlanta school superintendent, addressed a large audience at the First Baptist church, preceded by a 20-minute concert by the Brenan orchestra and vocal students. The educator spoke on the difference of the methods of teaching today as compared with those when he attended school.

Opening at 10 o'clock Thursday morning before an attendance of about 1,000 delegates, Superintendent W. T. Martin welcomed the distinguished guests to the city, with J. L. Vaden, president of the Georgia Education Association, responding and stressing the need of organized educational forces.

Dr. Belmont Farley, editor of Journal of National Education Association, addressed the conference on the value of effective advertising in the educational field. Governor-elect Richard B. Russell, on account of a slight illness, and Dr. T. F. Wootter, of the University of Georgia, due to transportation difficulties were unable to fill their parts on the program.

Featuring the afternoon session was an address on taxation by Colonel Orville A. Park, prominent Macon attorney and tax expert, who explained the present financial situation of Georgia and the work of the tax revision commission appointed by Governor Hardman.

Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, also spoke, emphasizing the widespread usefulness of education through extension work and resident agricultural experts.

Dr. Walter R. Siders, secretary of the World's Federation of Education Associations, gave an international scope to the work of teaching the growing mind. Kyle T. Allfriend, secretary of the state association, was introduced to the gathering, as well as a number of school superintendents and well-known teachers and educators.

Dr. Joseph Stewart, of the University of Georgia, inspected the high school library Thursday morning and stated that it was one of the best he had ever seen in the smaller cities and was a nucleus around which could be built an outstanding library. The conference adjourned Thursday afternoon.

The state association meets quarterly during the year, twice in south Georgia and two times in north Georgia. The southern conventions have already been held and the one at Rome Friday will conclude the annual itinerary.

COMMITMENT HEARING OF TRIO POSTPONED

MACON, Ga., Nov. 13.—(P)—Announcement of the postponement until Monday of the commitment trial of two women and a man, held in the Bibb county jail in connection with the death more than a week ago of Ed Horton, 13-year-old Baldwin county youth, today followed within a short time after Robert Seay, one of those held, had expressed to newspapermen his assurance of an acquittal.

The two women, Inez Temple and May Crooms, had already professed their innocence, commenting that they had "told all they knew to tell."

Seay, in his cell this afternoon, said that he "loved Ed like a brother," and insisted that he was a "good chap" that nobody would want to harm.

The man said that though he had not seen Horton for an hour and a half before the latter was found dead with a silk stocking tied around his neck, he had heard his voice only about 10 minutes before.

"I was in the kitchen," Seay said, "when the boy called and told me to 'bring in the wood.' When I started for the wood, he laughed and said he already had brought it in."

Seay said his 5-year-old nephew had been playing with the 13-year-old victim, and suggested to newspapermen that "he might have been strangled accidentally."

"You know how kids will play trying one another up. My nephew might have accidentally tied the stocking around Ed's neck," the doctor said he was strangled to death."

Seay said the young boy was "liked by everybody around there."

C. B. McCullar, attorney for the three persons, said tonight that the postponement of the commitment trial was only tentative. It will be held before Judge Edward R. Hines, of the county court of Baldwin county.

Two Groups Meet To Study South's Economic Problems

2-Day Sessions To Discuss Farm and Political Topics Affecting This Section.

The problems of the south are to be studied today and Saturday by two separate organizations working toward a common goal, the betterment of the section. They are the Southern Political Science Association and the Southeastern Economics Conference. Both are to begin their third annual sessions at 9 o'clock this morning at the Ansley hotel.

Joint meetings of the two organizations, both of which are composed of professional and educational leaders of the area, are to be held at noon and tonight.

The economic conference, presided over by Dean Walter J. Matherly, of the University of Florida, this morning will hear P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company; Professor E. A. Kincaid, of the University of Virginia; and Professor J. C. Bonbright, of Columbia University. The utilities head will talk on "Functions of State Regulation," while Professor Kincaid will discuss the O'Fallon decision with Professor Bonbright, the theme being "The Control of Public Utility Holding Companies."

At the political science gathering this morning various college professors in the several southern states will discuss the 1930 primary election results in their states, with Professor Cullen B. Gosnell, of Emory University, speaking for Georgia.

At the joint luncheon meeting of the two organizations economic factors of interest generally throughout the south will be discussed by delegates to both sessions.

THREAD MILL LIKELY FOR ATLANTA VICINITY

Ivan Allen Says He Understands Site Has Been Found for Project.

That one of three available sites, all within convenient proximity of Atlanta, ultimately will be selected for erection of the proposed manufacturing plant of the Clark Thread Company, of Newark, one of the largest producers of cotton sewing thread in the world, was indicated Thursday following departure from this city of John B. Clark, president of the New Jersey concern.

Ivan Allen, chairman of the industrial bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, said that it was his understanding that a "satisfactory" site had been found in the Atlanta territory among three contemplated localities, and that while no decision probably will be made within the near future he was of the opinion that the location of the mill town, which would employ about 5,000 persons and entail an outlay of $25,000,000 would be near Atlanta.

The cotton thread industry, represented by the presence of Mr. Clark and Major E. G. R. Lloyd, of the J. & P. Co. of Newark, N. J., in the Scotland, has been seeking suitable sites for the location of a proposed manufacturing center that would lie in close proximity to the cotton belt, and although the thread entrepreneurs departed from Atlanta without making an official statement Thursday, Mr. Allen said he felt confident that their search had ended in this section.

THE IDLE LABOR CRISIS.

The action of Mayor Ragsdale in appointing a commission to report ways and means to cancel the unemployment situation in Atlanta is praiseworthy.

Like actions have been taken in other cities with good prospects that worthy and idle workmen and workwomen, unemployed through no fault of their own and facing hard winter threatenings, will be so far provided for as to reduce their distress to the least possible degree.

Here in Atlanta there are many ways of a public, as well as of an individual and corporate, character

that should be right now in process of construction. The city needs street cleaning, street widening, vi-

duct building, sewerage construction

it can better undertake at once than to postpone until labor is scarce and

dear, and materials at permanently higher prices.

It is beside the mark to cavil

about where the money for such immediate works is to come from, for the business sense and skill of our administrators should be competent for such financing in so acute an emergency. It is far wiser to find the money to employ labor

in valuable improvements than to have to find it for relief and charity doles that bring no compensation to the people who pay the taxes to supply those funds.

So far as street improvements

may be used for the meeting of the unemployment emergency—and street improvements are greatly needed in the city—the constitution of the state supplies full warrant to the city governors to undertake

and finance them forthwith.

Section 7 of article 7 of the constitution provides that "any municipality having a population of 150,-

000 or more can issue and sell

"street improvement bonds" without the said assent of two-thirds of the qualified voters at an election called thereon, but upon a two-thirds vote of the members of its governing body," with certain limitations as to the term of the bonds, the interest thereon, etc.

That provision was put into the constitution at the instance and for the express benefit of the city of Atlanta. It rises up now to authorize the city government to proceed in one manner, at least, to meet the demand for work for the unemployed who would rather do street work than suffer from hunger and cold, and be humiliated by church or community charity.

Here is most surely a case in which the city governors should boldly take the unemployment bull

by the horns and twist its neck.

The people will approve such courage and humane regard for the wel-

Monkey Business.

A negro baby, the papers tell us,

was kidnapped some years ago by a tribe of apes on the Congolese forest.

The monkeys did not harm him and grew up to manhood among his captors. Some weeks ago a company of soldiers recaptured him. He is now a prisoner at the farm of a district governor. Certain famous anthropologists are already on the spot to study

this individual's habits. It appears that he devours an entire turkey for breakfast, plus a towering dish of baked potatoes. The time between breakfast and lunch is taken up with putting away other edibles, so that the latter meal is a monstrous affair. He gives out a first statement which declares that no human stomach can support the kind of diet which he is being fed, and that he is suffering from indigestion. The doctors are wondering if a human being put between the jaws of the beasts of the fields or of the trees acquires the physiological faculties of animals. In that case Vichy and Vittel and all those other resorts where people go to restore their stomachs are seriously menaced. All a sick man needs to have to do, it seems, is to pass a few years up the coco trees, live the easy life of the jungle and come back with a completely renewed digestive system. Nature is capricious.

The Butter Torture.

A well known doctor in Paris has been making a vigorous attack upon the substitutes for butter which many restaurants, even among the most executive, use in their cooking. He many customers unfortunately accept without protest. He recalls a decree of the time of Louis XI, which commanded the seller of butter to place in the stocks in full sun, and kept there until it melted, though the worst that was ever that was way of adulteration in those days was to add turpentine to the real butter,

and not to substitute a chemical product. (Copyright, 1930, by The Constitution.)

Black-Draught Benefited Kentucky Man Who Had Been In Poor Health.

Georgetown, Ky.—Believing that an account of his experience might be of assistance to people suffering from complaints which Black-Draught should relieve, Mr. G. E. Penn, 115 Stone Ave., this city, says:

"In regard to Black-Draught, I want it known what it has done for me and how thankful I am.

"For several years I had been in poor health. I could not eat and did not sleep. The small amount of food I managed to force down, I had no energy, was tired all the time, also troubled with constipation. I fell off in weight from 187 to 145 pounds.

"I was telling a friend of mine how I felt, and he told me I had been in the same fix and advised me to try Black-Draught. This I did, and you do not know how much better I feel in every way. I can eat three square meals a day. I feel like a man 30 years old instead of 60."

This well-known medicine has been in use nearly 100 years, and its popularity is constantly increasing, as growing sales clearly prove. Costs only 1 cent a dose.

TECH AND GEORGIA ON WAY TO BIG GAMES

By Ed Danforth

EN ROUTE WITH GEORGIA TECH, Nov. 13.—The Engineers are enroute northward for a football match with the University of Pennsylvania and leaving behind at least two sizzling contests that will engage the attention of the home fans.

One is that Georgia-Tulane racket in New Orleans; the other the Vanderbilt-Tennessee tussle in Nashville. Two toss-ups, two real hoss-races if ever you saw 'em.

SPECULATING.

In spite of everything and all that, it looks to the observer in this corner like Georgia will win the Tulane game.

Tulane lost an early season affair to Northwestern, as any team in America might do. Since then Tulane has not been extended. The Green Wave has been keyed up just once; they generated a full head of steam and bowled over Georgia Tech. Before and since, the Greenies have been just breezing; the wear and tear on the Green machine has been negligible.

Georgia has been through the mill. Week after week—beginning with October 11 when Yale was met and defeated—Georgia has been up against tough opposition.

They have been brought to a peak of physical and mental poise three or four times. Once they were held a scoreless tie.

Yet I believe there are fundamental reasons why Georgia certainly can be expected to defeat Tulane in New Orleans.

EXPERTING.

Tulane's passing game, if any, remains just a threat. It may develop potency under pressure, but it has not been used to win games thus far.

After Tulane scored touchdown No. 2 on Georgia Tech in the second quarter of their game here, the Yellow Jackets stopped the Green marches. Tech did that by line play mainly; the Tech secondary was not tackling well nor coming in fast to get the Tulane ball carriers.

Now if Tech could stop Tulane's running attack for over half the game I believe Georgia can do the same.

And as a counter irritant, I heartily commend the Georgia running game and the Georgia passing game to the attention of the lusty young men in New Orleans. They will be kept very busy stopping Georgia and may not find a great deal of time to hold the ball themselves.

On form to date Tulane has done its best play in the first half while Georgia, through a supply of reserves more capable than usual, has been able to keep up a pressure all through a 60-minute game. Unless the long succession of hard games has sapped Georgia's strength more than we imagine, the Bulldogs should come through to win, possibly in a last half spurt.

CRYSTAL GAZING.

Not the least of the handicaps Georgia must overcome is the unseen pressure of a rabid fan following. The Bulldogs do not know what that mob pressure is until they have played a game in New Orleans.

In New Orleans they KNOW their team will win by three or four touchdowns. They have figured it out by comparative scores, by palmistry, by crystal gazing, by tea leaves, by the wishbone of a wild goose, by goodness knows what other mesmeric means.

Why, for the past four weeks this desk has received a weekly letter from a gentleman named W. F. Marks, in Denver, Colo., who reads The Constitution in the public library to keep up with Tulane. The Marks' letters are one of many.

He told me flatly that Tulane would beat Georgia Tech plenty and for three weeks he has been hammering home the Tulane-Georgia outcome. His letter this week says in part:

"Now, Mr. Danforth, permit me to prepare you for a disappointing afternoon on the 15th. Here's the score: Tulane 14, Georgia 0. Then later Georgia will come back and beat Alabama which will give Tulane undisputed claim to the Southern conference championship."

Mr. Marks' also picks winners in weekly contests conducted by the Rocky Mountain News and won third prize the other day. He throws this up to Wayward Boye right along: Wayward's never won anything but the cut prize in any football picking contest.

"I know my stuff, Ed," Mr. Marks always signs himself.

COME ON, GEORGIA.

Gentlemen, I never made a pep talk to a football team in my life—and once upon a time I was away out on a limb in picking an underdog to defeat a favorite and felt like getting down on my knees before that team—but if I could think of anything helpful to say I would say it by long distance telephone to the Georgia team just before it takes the field at New Orleans.

In those days before I found out that man's most treacherous friends were two little ivory cubes with spots on them, I have put out a pretty good line of sales talk urging that a seven appear to swell the fund then being raised to purchase footwear for the infant.

But all the harangues I ever delivered to those frolicsome, lying, sneaking cubes would sound like the frowny mumbling of a child in troubled sleep besides the talk I am going to put out for that Georgia to throw seven's at Tulane—and keep throwing them.

THE COMMODORES.

And Vanderbilt-Tennessee?

There always is a battle.

The Commodores started out by swamping Minnesota. The team was composed mostly of sophomores. If you guess that they were rather carried away with themselves and their ability, you probably would not be far wrong.

Then they bumped into Alabama and were rudely awakened. They came back somewhat against Georgia Tech and won the game but had to work themselves down to a nub and pick up no end of good breaks to turn that trick.

The Vanderbilt sophomores are wiser now. They have found out that they are just beginners after all. Their coach

JACKETS NEED ONLY 'BREAKS' TO BEAT PENN

Masters and Gentle, Star Quaker Backs, Are Reported Out.

EN ROUTE WITH GEORGIA TECH, Nov. 13.—Twenty-five rambling wrecks rolled northward this afternoon on the Crescent Limited through a billion dollars' worth of fancy autumn scenery bound for Philadelphia.

The Georgia Tech folks are returning a visit they have owed the University of Pennsylvania folks for 13 years. It was in the fall of 1917 that a great Pennsylvania team, captained by Heinie Miller, of All-American fame, came down to Atlanta to play the team that Johnny Heisman had developed that first war year from R. O. T. C. students.

What began as a lark, a sight-seeing tour for the Red and Blue was turned into a rout. Everett Strupper, Joe Guyon and the rest of those dashing Engineers of that year cut Pennsylvania to pieces. Many suspect that old Johnny Heisman, a Pennsylvania man himself, took certain steps to check the parade of Tech backs over the Pennsylvania goal line when the score passed the 40 mark.

That victory first attracted general national attention to Georgia Tech's football team. Succeeding generations of Yellow Jackets have managed to keep Tech flats on the sports pages from September to December.

NO TORNADO.

This is no Golden Tornado that is riding north today through the red and gold and brown of November. Coach W. A. Alexander, Heisman's successor since 1920, has had many southern championship teams to his credit and one national titleholder, but this edition is neither. It is just a big tough team, hard to beat and thirsting for a victory somewhere along the lane that thus far has produced but two triumphal combats.

Pennsylvania has what might be termed a normally strong Quaker eleven. True they took a 60-20 licking from Georgia last Saturday, but that is liable to happen to any team that plays Notre Dame this year.

The tip-off on Pennsylvania is that after the Irish imperial guard had run up a big score, the Quakers had the courage and the strength left to score three touchdowns on the Irish team. Such a Pennsylvania team cannot be weak. Such a team will be ready to step out Saturday on Franklin field and take it all out on the enemy.

TECH HAS CHANCE

None imagines that the present Georgia Tech team can match the Georgia Tech team of 1917, but it is quite possible that Tech can win with a little help from Lady Luck, the victor of the best so cold toward the Engineers this season.

These boys in many respects outplayed South Carolina last Saturday, yet could get nothing better than a tie and a defeat for their pains.

The Yellow Jackets have a pretty mean November team with a rather sketchy offense but a robust defense. Now and then it happens that a tough defense team can defeat a team with a correspondingly superior offense through favorable breaks. Tech will play for these and make the Quakers put out plenty of sweat.

SMALL SQUAD.

Coach Alexander is taking the smallest squad north that he ever carried on an intercollegiate trip. Injuries and faculty rulings have cut his squad of available men to a minimum. However, all the men who played so well against Vanderbilt last week are ready to go except Doug Graydon who was left at home to care an injured leg. Captain Earl Dunlap is along, but he cannot play.

The heavy day says that Captain Dick Gentile and Walter Masters, Penn's two star backs, are out with injuries and cannot play Saturday. So far I have heard no moans of sadness from the Tech crew. It is perfectly all right to wish we could beat them with Gentile and Masters in action but our chances of winning will be greatly improved if they are out. And as before suggested the Yellow Jackets need a victory in the very worst way.

Coach Alexander plans to start the same team against Penn that opened against Vanderbilt—that is, with six sophomores in action. The arrangement will be Jones and Goldsmith, ends; Marce and Holt, tackles; Brooke and Ezell, guards; Noblett, center; MacArthur, quarterback; Flowers and Barron, halfbacks; Cain, fullback.

FAMILIAR RING.

"Flowers and Barron, halfbacks." Does that line bring back memories? Just imagine the original Buck and a difference of what? That thought bares the essential weakness in this year's Tech team—insufficient backs. To no other cause can Tech's rather unhappy season be attributed.

The present Flowers, no relation to the first Buck, is a great punter and the present Barron, kid brother of the first of the name, is a fine ball carrier with back experience on defense. They will do well enough and should be great next year. But the game is this coming Saturday.

The Yellow Jackets are having a fine trip. The Crescent Limited, the crack train of the Southern railway, is spinning them along with very few stops. Ed Barry, the big man in the passenger office, is along looking after everything from observation to cawcatcher. The food is excellent. The company is congenial.

Bulldogs Stop Here on Way to New Orleans

Georgia's Bulldog football players stopped over in Atlanta last night on way to New Orleans for their big game with the Greenies of Tulane university. The above picture shows part of the squad with the coaches at the Terminal station. H. J. Stegeman, director of athletics, is shown at the left.

CAGLE REFUSED AGGIE RELEASE

President Hugh Critz Says Team Needs Coach. "Red" Is Undecided.

STARKVILLE, Miss., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Chris Cagle's plan to resign from the head coaching of the Mississippi Aggies football team to accept a position at the University of Virginia, professional team next week encountered serious difficulty here today.

The former All-American West Point football star resigned his release but President Hugh Critz refused, explaining the Aggies have no assistant coach and there's no one who can play Ole Miss on Thanksgiving. Accordingly, Cagle is undecided about the matter, he said late today.

"What would be the use of hiring a football coach from September 1 to December 1 to have him resign before the biggest game of the year," the Aggies president asked. A. & M. plays Ole Miss on Thanksgiving, and the impression prevails it will need a coach of some kind on that day.

Cagle informed college authorities, President Critz said, that he intended taking the Aggies to Birmingham Saturday to meet the Auburn Tigers, but did not intend to return to coach them after the 15th of this month. He requested action on his resignation by Monday.

Cagle signed a two-year contract with the Aggies at a reported salary of more than $2,000. Disputes from New York state he also had signed a contract with the New York Giants, and has reported to them by November 23, to play against the Green Bay, Wis. Packers.

COLORED TEAMS BATTLE TODAY

Atlanta's leading colored football teams, Morehouse and Morris Brown, will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spiller field in what promises to be one of the best games of the colored season. Morris Brown is undefeated and has one of the best teams in southern colored football ranks.

Both teams have been working hard over this week and the coaches announced ready late Thursday afternoon, following a lengthy signal drill. A special section of the grandstand has been reserved for white persons.

Army-Navy Game Hits Snag; Dates Conflict

Question of Playing Date Likely To Block Proposed Contest for Charity.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP)—All efforts to bring about a football clash between the Army and Navy this year for the benefit of the unemployed apparently had failed tonight.

With both institutions willing to forget their differences over eligibility rules long enough to meet for charity's sake, negotiations for the game seemed to have foundered because no date, agreeable or convenient to both, could be found.

The Army took the first step in the latest attempt to bring about a meeting with the Navy for the first time since 1927. Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the Military Academy, announced the Army was ready to play the Navy in New York December 6. He suggested that the contest be played for the benefit of the unemployed, and that all eligibility differences be waived for this one game.

The Naval Academy immediately replied that it could not accept the December 6 date, since the Midshipmen already were under contract to meet Pennsylvania on that day. West Point officials had understood that the Navy-Penn game was arranged conditionally upon a possible resumption of football relations between the two governments.

Officials immediately offered two alternative dates for the game, November 29 and December 13, and expressed a preference for the latter Saturday.

Officially this offer has not been received at West Point tonight but it was said authoritatively that neither of the Navy's alternative dates could be accepted.

Major Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, pointed out that the Army was under contract to meet Notre Dame on November 29 and that this date therefore was out of the question. As for December 13, Major Fleming said this also was not acceptable to the Army because it would interfere with semi-annual examinations. The examinations start on December 1 and Major Fleming pointed out that the Cadet football players would have to take time out for practice just when they should be at their studies.

EMBARRASSING. Admiral Robison met this objection with the statement that the December 13 date would be just as embarrassing to the Naval Academy as to West Point in the matter of conflict with examinations. He believed both institutions should ignore this difficulty in the interests of a "worthy cause."

This attitude did not meet with a favorable reception at West Point.

With all these suggested dates unacceptable to one or the other, the situation remained in status quo with a gridiron meeting just as far away, apparently, as ever. There still was a possibility that some agreeable date would be found.

SINGER DEFENDS CROWN TONIGHT

Battles Tony Canzoneri at Garden; 'Wise Boys' Are Worried.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Young Al Singer, who won himself a lightweight championship by knocking out Sammy Mandell last summer, will carry the crown into battle for the first time tomorrow night in a 15-round match with Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square Garden.

Singer's defense of the 135-pound title will mark the first time since the war when a champion has defended his title in the old Garden years ago. Under financial conditions existing in the fight game today, however, despite the drawing powers of the two local favorites, gate receipts are not expected to exceed $50,000. The Singer-Mandell affair, staged in the Yankee stadium, drew better than $150,000.

The mental rather than physical condition of the youngsters perplexes the wise ones who whisper the odds on tomorrow night's battle. Singer, after knocking out Mandell in a round, tackled Jimmy McLarnin, the Yankee brawler, in an over-weight match, and was himself battered senseless. The critics fear that Singer, just turned 21, may have been "spoiled" by that defeat.

Canzoneri, not yet 23, still is such a veteran in point of action that the ring wise believe his best days are behind him. He lost the decision in Mandell's last successful title defense and was beaten a few months ago by Billy Petrolle, of Fargo, N. D. He has rested for the past few months, however, and seems in splendid condition. Almost two years ago, Canzoneri and Singer met here for the first time and the match was declared a draw, although most of the critics gave Tony a wide edge on points.

DUKE ENDS PRACTICE.

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 13.—(AP)—A short skill practice at the gymnasium and an hour and a half of signal drill followed by wind sprints this afternoon completed Duke's work for the game with North Carolina State at Raleigh Saturday. The work was hard this week.

Leathers May Be Lost for Game

If there's anything in this men business, Georgia's chances aren't so bright against Tulane Saturday.

In the very last play of Thursday's workout in Athens—the only scrimmage held by the varsity all week, by the way—Red Leathers, first-string guard and one of the most valuable men in the line, hurt his knee severely. The injury, in fact, is serious enough to make it very doubtful if he will be able to play at all Saturday.

Nothing was known of the occurrence until the Bulldogs' train passed through Atlanta late Thursday afternoon.

MEHRE WORRIED OVER CAREFREE AIR OF CHARGES

With Tulane Overconfident, Game May Be Battle of "Attitudes."

By Ralph McGill, Staff Correspondent.

EN ROUTE TO NEW ORLEANS WITH GEORGIA FOOTBALL TEAM, Nov. 13.—Georgia's football troops were off tonight to guard another sector of their far-flung battle line.

A pitched battle with the Green squad of Bernie Bierman, the United States Marine, is scheduled for Saturday afternoon in New Orleans. It is a battle which will decide whether the Red and Black of Athens or the Green and White of New Orleans shall move forward in the Southern conference football race.

It is a pulse-stunning game that is scheduled for the Crescent City Saturday. It is a contest which holds all that drama and power can give it. Two of the three southern football giants will be clashing.

Harry Mehre's Georgia squad pulled out of Atlanta on the Crescent Limited at 6 o'clock Thursday night. The squad appeared jaded and not greatly interested. They have been reaching a high peak every week this fall, and the strain is beginning to tell.

Harry Mehre was even more lugubrious than is his wont when things "suck out" look so rosy. In fact Harry Mehre was taking a page from the book of old Professor Knute Rockne, the sage of South Bend, and saying that it looked as if his football boys would lose by a dozen or so touchdowns if they did not snap out of it and get the old zip back in their legs.

His Georgia Bulldogs were rather mild against Florida and after the defeat of New York University, Mehre fears that they will be mild again.

"They were out-pitching all week," said the Georgia coach sorrowfully. "It was just a lark in the practices. Unless they come to life on the way down here tonight they will wake up to the fact that they have the fight of their lives on next week."

"It may be that they don't feel like football until they get on a Pullman mattress," continued the Georgia coach. "I am hoping that when they get to bed tonight they will wake up to the fact that they have the fight of their lives on next week."

The Georgians have traveled rather extensively this fall. They have made the trip to Columbia, S. C., to play the Gamecock team. They have made the trip to New Orleans to play the Green Wave. They have made the trip to Columbia, S. C., to play the Gamecock team.

The Georgia football team doesn't really feel at home in New Orleans. It is surrounded with a lot of Pullman porter-bell hop atmosphere.

In marked contrast to the fear of the Georgia followers is the confidence of the Georgia football fans, always a rabid and cocksure lot. The Green Wave is looking past the Georgia game to some sort of post-season tilt at the United States Marine, no doubt, is nursing some worries, but his supporters aren't.

GREAT GAME.

The Saturday game looms as one of the great Georgia football family feuds. The Georgia football fans, always a rabid and cocksure lot, are looking past the Georgia game to some sort of post-season tilt at the United States Marine, no doubt, is nursing some worries, but his supporters aren't.

Tulane, defeated in the only intercollegiate game played, offers a full set of halfbacks with a fullback, Nollie Felts, who is a young man 24 years old with a great center in Robert McCall, a Georgia's, if all the experts are to be believed. It boasts one good guard in Horace Roederger, a great center in Robert McCall, a Georgia's, if all the experts are to be believed. It boasts one good guard in Horace Roederger, a great center in Robert McCall, a Georgia's, if all the experts are to be believed.

Georgia's backfield is perhaps better balanced than any other in the South. It offers excellent halfbacking, good power at line-attack and some excellent passing. The Bulldog line has two great ends and two great guards. Things look fairly even, with Georgia having a slight edge in the backfield.

HAVE THEY GOT IT?

Tulane has managed to get along without any special air attack. They haven't needed it in their games to date. Georgia's been very effective, but their defense against passers has been but fair.

The Georgians will arrive at 9 o'clock Friday morning, and go immediately to their headquarters at the Bienville hotel. Some festivities for the Tulane alumni are scheduled there at 11 o'clock Friday night, and Harry Mehre is putting guards on the floor where his team will try to sleep.

Tulane is so confident they have made this their homecoming game and invited all the alumni in to see the slaughter of the Georgians.

Georgia is quite likely to change the cheers to tears. They should win.

Wet Field Likely At New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Because of continued rain today, Coach Bernie Bierman took his Tulane Green Wave indoors for "skull practice" and study of play formation diagrams, preparatory to the Ware's game Saturday with Georgia.

If the playing field remains a mire as a result of the week-long drizzle, tactics of both teams are expected to be changed, as both the Greenies and the Bulldogs have depended largely upon the fleet feet of their runners.

Volunteers Claim Many More Injuries as Vanderbilt Game Nears

THREE MEMBERS OF LAST YEAR LEFT TO PLAY

Some Cripples Expected To Try But Situation Remains Blue.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—When Tennessee faces the Vanderbilt Commodores on Dudley field Saturday afternoon it will be with only three of her last year's regulars on the team—Captain Hobbs Thayer, Buddy Hackman, and Bobby Dodd. The other eight men are reserves; some of proven worth, and some who have yet to win their spurs. From an apparently clear sky, Old Man Injury has again swooped down on the Vol fold and taken his toll.

Two major injuries cropped up unexpectedly this week when it was found that Bill Cox, reserve fullback, had chipped a bone in his knee, and Shuck Allen, varsity halfback, who has been playing in McEver's place, had aggravated an old knee injury received earlier in the season. There have been so many injuries to the Vols this year that this additional laying-off of good men was a staggering blow to the coaching staff, although it did not seem to affect the morale of the squad.

The members of the squad have developed a philosophy that fits the season. When they get tackled, they see if they can rise. If they rise, they feel themselves all over; if they feel everything in place, they know that they didn't get their time. If they can't rise and can't feel all of themselves, they know that they have automatically joined the company of the cripples on the bench. It's all very simple.

HARD TEST. Those who watched Vanderbilt defeat Georgia Tech last Saturday realized that the Vols were up against the hardest scrap of the year. Upon their return to Knoxville they gave themselves over to a little quiet thinking and then they went hard to work. There was no light workout, as is the custom on Monday afternoons.

Ty Disney, Charley Reinecke, and Paul Heydrick are being groomed for the halfback position left open by the injury to Shuck Allen. Who will get the call for Saturday depends upon what the week's practice brings forth. At present the midge Reinecke, who is a good man at several things, seems to be the fair-haired boy who will be given the pigskin prize.

HUG OUT. All possibility of using Paul Huz, veteran all-southern end, who checked out early in the fall with a misery

Badgers Learning To 'Track' Stars

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 13.—If Northwestern football players move about as Wisconsin's scouts have reported, the Badgers should be able to keep track of them Saturday.

Marine Eleven Plays In Havana Saturday

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 13.—(P)—The local marine football squad, 20 strong, will leave here tomorrow for Havana, Cuba, where it will meet the Cuban Athletic Club machine Saturday in an international game.

Sewanee Crippled For Gamecock Tilt

SEWANEETOWN, Tenn., Nov. 13.—(P)—Putting finishing touches on the week's preparation for the game with South Carolina Saturday, Coach Harvey Harman sent his Sewanee Tigers through a long signal drill today, still minus the services of Krellman, guard, and Phillips, fullback. The team left tonight for Columbia, S. C.

In the knee, has been given up. Huz again hurt his knee. Not in scrimmage, where it would have been expected, but believe it or not, as he was coming out of a movie.

It's things like that that make Tennessee feel that her players are marked men and that there is simply no escaping Old Man Jinx. Fritz Brandt, the running mate of Huz, and half of a combination that was feared and respected in Southern conference circles for two years, may be tried against Vanderbilt. It's a case of maybe and perhaps and possibly. No one knows.

In Vanderbilt Tennessee meets one of the strongest teams in the south, a team that outweighs the mighty Crimson Tide of Alabama, and that lacks nothing in aggressiveness. It looks like a superlative task that Tennessee has set herself when she tries to overcome a team of this caliber, with so many of her regulars spectators. It will take more than anything Tennessee has shown this year to down the Commodores. If determination alone will do it the Fighting Volunteers have their share of that.

PETRELS LEAVE FOR BIG GAME WITH VILLANOVA

Anderson To Run at Fullback in Clash With Stuhldreher Eleven.

By Jack Troy.

With the red clay hills and dunes echoing to the pep song and Dixie, played on the clock tower musical chimes, the Oglethorpe football squad clambered aboard the Birmingham Southern special at the school station late Thursday afternoon, their destination being Philadelphia, where on Saturday afternoon they will meet Harry Stuhldreher's Villanova team.

The Petrels, with the exception of the fullback position, are better prepared for the Villanova tilt than they have been for any previous contest this season. The backfield contains much more versatility and speed, and the powerful line is at full strength.

DOUBLE THREAT. The Old Liners of Villanova will be called upon to stop both Ray (Dixie) Walker and Frank Anderson, Jr., if the versatile offensive of the Stormy Petrel contingent is to be held in check.

A final signal drill Thursday afternoon, more or less in the nature of a last-minute polishing procedure, found the "submarine pass," a really potent scoring play, once again clicking to perfection. Walker was doing the passing and Jenny Woodward, the speedy halfback, the receiving.

NO CHANGE. There was no change in the varsity team that Coach Harry Robertson has been running together all week. "Tanky" Anderson will play his third backfield position of the season when he starts at fullback against Villanova.

Coach Robertson avowed: "If we can get by this one, the remainder should be easy." Nutty Campbell, who scouted the Old Liners last week said: "Villanova is by far the hardest team on the Oglethorpe schedule."

Bowdon Opposes Freshmen Today

A truly formidable Oglethorpe freshman football team, boasting full strength, will turn to the business of repulsing the invasion of a highly touted Bowdoin College varsity on Herndon field this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Tapering off with a spirited signal session Thursday afternoon, the green-clad first-year huskies appeared in perfect shape for the game.

Coaches Hoke Bell and Jack Overton announced a starting lineup as follows: Johansen and Johnson, ends; Pickard and Barrow, tackles; Aderhold and Young, guards; Shouse, center; Flint, quarterback; Wren and Hildreath, halfbacks, and Bolden, fullback.

Bowdon's chief claim to fame this season is a victory over Mack Tharpe's Tech "B" team. Their freshmen opponents have a tie against Monroe Aggies and a victory over Savannah High school to their credit.

Charity Race Meet Will Run Monday

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 13.—(P)—The Orphanage stakes, feature of Colonel E. R. Bradley's charity race meetings at Idle Hour farm Monday, will probably be divided into two sections because of the large number of entries expected.

Colonel Bradley said today in the event the race was run in two sections, a purse of $5,000 will go to the winner of each and duplicate trophies will be awarded. The race is for two-year-olds at the mile distance.

Berry Shannon, manager of Idle Hour, said the winners of purses will not be permitted to donate them to charity, as at the two previous annual meetings, because Colonel Bradley believes a majority of horsemen are unable to make this sacrifice. The purses, donated by Colonel Bradley, will be $1,000 for every race except the stake.

Kentucky Wesleyan Off for Army Game

WINCHESTER, Ky., Nov. 13.—(P)—Kentucky Wesleyan's Panthers left here today for West Point, N. Y., where they will play Army at football Saturday. The squad, composed largely of sophomores, realizing they will be out-weighted and out-clasped, had hopes only of keeping the score down to a respectable margin.

Wesleyan's record has been far from successful this year, but a single score against the Army gridders would win more acclaim for the team than any number of scalp of its usual opponents.

Choctaws To Cross Rio Grande Next Year

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 13.—(P)—Mississippi College, which last week defeated the University of Mexico here in their second engagement, will send its football team below the Rio Grande next year to again face Reginald Root's squad at Mexico City on December 6, 1931.

The teams first met there last year. In both meetings the Mississippians have rolled up sizeable victories. The third clash was announced as the Mexicans left here for San Antonio, Texas, where Saturday they play St. Mary's College.

California Coaches Voted Confidence

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 13.—(P)—A resolution expressing confidence in the University of California football team and coaching staff was adopted unanimously by the executive committee of the associated students here last night.

The action was a surprise in view of apparent well-founded reports that discussion of hiring a new coach would be the chief order of business. Several members of the committee, however, intimated the resolution was adopted to stave off further investigation of football conditions at California until after the "big game" with Stanford November 22.

American Horse Wins Osmaston Plate Race

DERBY, England, Nov. 13.—(P)—An American-owned horse, Mrs. C. Beatty's Pinnacle, at odds of 8 to 1, today won the Osmaston nursery plate over seven furlongs. Pinnacle flashed in three-quarters of a length ahead of T. Davidson's Mink and 11 others. The value of the race was 400 pounds.

California Seeks Zuppke, Is Report

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(P)—Two Big Ten coaches, Bob Zuppke, of Illinois, and Pat Page, of Indiana, today were involved in football rumors but both denied any knowledge of them.

One report had it that Coach Zuppke was being considered for coach of the University of California team and another had Coach Pat Page taking a similar position at the University of California, southern branch.

Miami Tri-Club Begins Expansion

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 13.—(P)—A $80,000 contract for completion of Gelf Park Country Club and the first unit of Card Sound fishing lodge, two units of facilities for the Tri Club of Miami, has been let to the Everglades Construction Company, officials of the club announced today.

The officials said the contract was let at this time in order to assist in curbing unemployment here. The construction company placed crews at work on the projects today.

Class Basketball At N. A. P. S. Today

The season of class basketball at North Avenue Presbyterian school began with the election of four captains to pilot the team through the season. Catherine Hartman was elected captain of the senior team, and Delphine Jones of the junior team, while the sophomores chose Theresa Pope and the freshmen Betty Fugitt to be their leaders, according to announcement by Miss Josephine Walker, director of athletics.

The first of the games, played last Friday, resulted in a victory for the seniors over the juniors by a score of 35-5, the sophomore-freshman game ending 30-11 in favor of the sophomores.

Russell High Eleven Out To Halt Decatur's Winning Streak Today

TEAMS CLASH ON EAST POINT GRID AT 2:30

Fulton Vs. Cartersville.
Smithies and Purple Continue Workouts.

By Roy White.

With five victories and two tie games on its record, Decatur High will play the Russell High eleven at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on the East Point gridiron in one of the best class "B" games of the prep hoop.

Decatur and Commercial are the only teams in the prep league which have not been defeated this season, and both are very much in the running for final honors.

Fulton High had an open date on its schedule for today, but arranged a game against Cartersville High, in Cartersville. Coach McIlwain and his Fulton county lads will leave early this morning.

OUT TO WIN.
Russell, with only one victory in six starts, is yet hopeful of stopping Decatur's winning streak. Both teams are in excellent condition.

In its seven games so far, Decatur's goal line has been crossed only twice, both times in tie games.

New Field House Is Planned at Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The University of Chicago is to have a new field house for its athletes. Plans for the new structure, to be built at a cost of $700,000 were outlined at a banquet last night. It will be large enough to accommodate 7,000 spectators.

Only long signal drills are on the schedule for this afternoon. Boys' High concluded its rough work with a long scrimmage Wednesday, and followed with a light dummy drill Thursday afternoon.

BLACKBOARD DRILL.
Tech High players listened to more than an hour of lecture and blackboard drills Thursday and then spent some time in a dummy drill, practicing the plays that were given in diagram.

Coach Doyal, with more material than ever before, is still undecided as to his starting lineup, while Coach Tolbert is expected to send in the best he has in an effort to win. The Smithies have few capable reserves, while the Purple has depended heavily upon substitutes in winning past games.

WADE ELEVEN SET FOR L. S. U. ON SATURDAY

Baton Rouge Team Should Be Easy But Tide
Isn't Sure.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 12.—(Special).—Alabama's Crimson Tide has loafed a bit this week, but that doesn't mean she will be unprepared for L. S. U. In fact, the opposite is true. L. S. U. has been thoroughly coached and the Tide will be set to give its best defensive against the sure-passing Alabamians and the other spec. Tiger backs and ends, in Montgomery Saturday.

On form, L. S. U. looks like "easy meat" for Alabama.

But history has shown that "easy meat" often proves toughest for any Tide, even the best of them, a class in which the sent eleven has taken rank. It is remembered that an unheralded Mississippi A. & M. team came to the Capstone in 1925 and held that great combination to a single touchdown. This counter came late on a pass and barely won for Alabama, 7 to 0. A year later, the other great team that went to the Rose Bowl was held to a miserable safety and 2-0 victory by an obscure Seawave eleven.

If such a defeat is to occur this season, L. S. U. is the team to perform it. For after the Tigers this week, only Georgia, an even proposition, awaits Alabama.

While the football boys have been resting or running signal drills, the faculty athletic committee has been active turning down proposals for games on December 6. It appears that Alabama's regular schedule will end Thanksgiving Day, as originally planned.

The committee announced that due to scholastic requirements the team could not accept games for December 6, as members will need considerable time to prepare for examinations. Also the Tide will have completed a strenuous schedule which has included eight Southern Conference institutions, more than one-third in the 22-school organization.

Purdue at Work For Butler Clash

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 13.—Purdue's colorful gridiron eleven, boasting one of the most powerful running offensives in the nation, is busily preparing for its "Deacon" tilt with Butler here Saturday which marks the first meeting between the two state foes since 1902.

By scoring successive Big Ten victories over Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Chicago, Purdue is now ranked with the greatest teams in the country and no stone will be left unturned to finish the season with successive victories over Butler and Indiana.

Although Butler will enter the game Saturday as the underdog, Kiser is expecting Coach Harry Bell's Bulldogs to offer stiff resistance, and will have his strongest combination ready for use.

With the exception of Ed Risk, who sustained a foot injury in the Chicago game, which is expected to keep him out of uniform until the Indiana tilt, all of the members of Purdue's great backfield delegation are expected to be ready for use.

Roy Horstman, sensational sophomore fullback, who more than doubled the mark of "Five-Yards" McCarthy in the old Maroon fullback's stamping ground by averaging 10 yards a crack against Chicago Saturday, is practically certain to see considerable action. Other twinklers in Purdue's "all-star" backfield who are expected to play include Howard Kissell, James Purvis, Lewis Pope and Hal Chase, halfbacks; Alex Yunevich, fullback, and Jack White, quarterback.

TO COME EAST.
The Notre Dame golf team, with Larry Moller, intercollegiate golf champion runner-up in 1930, as a member, is tentatively planning an eastern trip for next spring.

The SPORTLIGHT Grantland Rice

SATURDAY'S ROUND-UP.

FORDHAM-ST. MARY'S—Proving that east and west can meet—at least in the "realm of flying feet." Fordham has the stronger line—St. Mary's the better backfield. Two evenly matched teams, where it is largely a matter as to whether or not Fordham isn't bordering on staleness after five hard ones in a row. A battle worth looking at.

NORTHWESTERN-WISCONSIN—Northwestern should win, despite the loss of Pug Rentner, her best passer. If Northwestern does win, it will bring two unbeaten teams together the following Saturday for the Notre Dame tussle. The one Wisconsin chance is that Northwestern will be focused 100 per cent on the Notre Dame test.

GEORGIA-TULANE—Two of the best of the southern teams with Georgia favored if the Red and Black schedule hasn't taken away most of her steam. Tulane is unbeaten in the south and Tulane is strong, but Georgia has the greater scoring force on a normal day. Georgia ought to win a hard, close game.

YALE-PRINCETON—Bill Roper's last stand in college football after 25 years. He will need a miracle to hold Yale under two touchdowns.

MICHIGAN-MINNESOTA—The unbeaten Michigan team should remain unbeaten with too much power for Minnesota, plus Newman's passing attack.

CORNELL-DARTMOUTH—Another old-fashioned classic, where again Dartmouth's manpower should be more than Cornell can ward off. The scenic effect looks to be all Green.

COLGATE-SYRACUSE—Two good teams with Colgate out in front through a better attack. There are few backs better than Hart and Macaluso. Another old-fashioned rivalry that means hard, smashing football.

NEBRASKA-MISSOURI—A Big Six classic where Nebraska is favored after tying Pittsburgh and beating Kansas.

N. Y. U.-GEORGETOWN—One of the best games of the day with N. Y. U. having an edge. Georgetown is good, but N. Y. U. looks better.

HARVARD-HOLY CROSS—Harvard is about due, if Horween doesn't save up too much for Yale. If he does, Captain McEwan and his Holy Cross outfit may turn in another Crimson jolt.

VANDERBILT-TENNESSEE—One of the topnotch contests of the day between teams that have only been beaten once. Tennessee has a great quarter in Dodd, one of the best. Not much to spare.

TEXAS-T. C. U.—The southwestern blue ribbon. Texas has lost one game but beat S. M. U., 25 to 7. T. C. U. has been tied but not beaten. Another one of those nip and tuck parties that carries a championship upon its decision.

COLUMBIA-BROWN—Brown has too much with Hewitt uncertain and not quite ready.

NAVY-SOUTHERN METHODIST—Both in and out teams, but S. M. U. with a better attack should win through her passing.

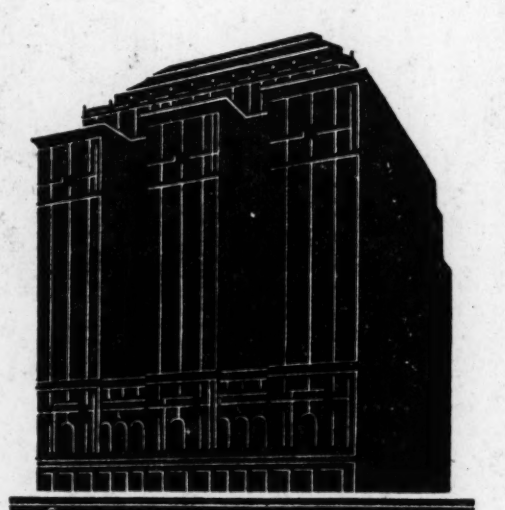

WASHINGTON STATE-WASHINGTON—Washington State, still unbeaten, should remain in that pleasant situation, but with little to spare.

SOME OTHERS—Marquette and Detroit will have a hot scrap with Marquette favored; Temple, with only one defeat after a fine year, should be too strong for Lafayette; Illinois has it on Chicago; Pittsburgh has an edge on Ohio State unless Fessler runs amuck once more; Rutgers and Lehigh are evenly matched; if Pennsylvania has recovered from its daze, the Red and Blue has a slight edge on Georgia Tech; Alabama has too many guns for Louisiana.

That isn't all, but maybe it is too much.

Miami Grid Fans Seek Charity Game

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Miami is looking for a pair of football teams to play a post-season game here New Year's Day, according to Mayor C. H. Reeder.

Several aggregations are under consideration, he said, for a game similar to the University of Florida-University of Oregon game here last winter. Among them he listed the Carnegie Tech eleven and a marine team from the navy yard at Philadelphia.

No definite steps have been taken toward contracting with teams for such a venture, the mayor said. He pointed out, however, that Miami is eager to offer such entertainment to her early winter visitors if arrangements can be completed for a game more than a month after regular schedules have been played.

Tide-Bulldog Seats Bought Up Rapidly

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 13.—(AP)—A complete sell-out of reserved seats for the Alabama-Georgia game at Birmingham on Thanksgiving Day was announced by athletic authorities of the University of Alabama today.

Unreserved tickets, sufficient to care for 7,000 or more spectators, went on sale here today and in Birmingham. These tickets are for temporary seats in bleachers being erected at each end of Legion field.

Thomasville Players Are Given Holiday

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 13.—All players on the Thomasville High school football team who participated in the game in Valdosta on Tuesday, which terminated in a scoreless tie between the two high school aggregations, were on Wednesday given a full holiday from school. This action was taken by the school authorities in recognition of the fine game the locals put on in Valdosta, against a team that was doped by 90 per cent of the fans in the southwest Georgia High School Athletic conference to be a cinch for Valdosta. All of the team members are well up in their studies, and the holiday will not materially interfere with their school routine.

Clemson Tigers Work Out Here and Head for Florida Battle

CODY EXPECTS TO MAKE HARD GAME FOR FOES

Boys Appear in Tip-Top Shape in Drill at Oglethorpe.

Josh Cody's Clemson Tigers, a formidable-looking array of 29 perfectly-conditioned athletes, are pointing for Saturday's game with the University of Florida "Gators" at Jacksonville, Fla., and, frankly, will "shoot the works" in an effort to avenge last year's 13-0 defeat at Gainesville. The Tigers have never been satisfied with the outcome of that game, for Justus and company played rings around the Gators on that day.

The Clemson squad stopped off in Atlanta Thursday afternoon for a workout on Hernance field, leaving Atlanta at 8:30 o'clock for Jacksonville.

Cody ran the Tigers through a number of practice drills and wound up the session with a signal practice, two teams running. The squad is entirely free from injuries and appeared in first-class physical condition.

"I'm not at all sure that we can beat Florida," Cody said, "but we hope to give them a good game, the only defeat of the season was by Tennessee, and the Volunteers were very strong in that game."

The proposed post-season game between Clemson and New York University is still hanging fire, awaiting the decision of the unemployment committee of Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York city.

"Clemson alumni in New York bemoaned the subject of a charity game between the Tigers and New York University and I readily agreed. I feel, however, that a stronger opponent could be secured for the New Yorkers. If the game goes through, it will be played in New York city, December 6."

Cody, who is one of the most congenial and best liked coaches in the Southern conference, was surrounded by a crowd of Oglethorpe student admirers and others at Hernance field Thursday afternoon. He chatted on southern football and the season's results as his Tigers charged ferociously through the mud and rain polishing their plays.

McGUGIN PLAYS SAFE.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—(AP) Prospects of a heavy field for the annual football classic between Vanderbilt University and University of Tennessee here Saturday appeared almost certain today. Taking no chances on his first-string players becoming injured by heavy work on a muddy field, Coach Dan E. McGugin sent his charges through another light workout today.

Considerable secrecy shrouded the Commodore's workouts. No intimation of the style of football or of the starting lineup for the battle has been given.

WILDCATS DRILL.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 13.—(AP) Kentucky's Wildcats went through a light workout this afternoon in preparation for their game here Saturday with V. M. I. All regulars are expected to see action except Williams, star center, who is out with an injured ankle.

At least six other Wildcats are in poor condition but will probably play. Shipwreck Kelly is still limping as a result of a pulled muscle in his side.

The V. M. I. squad will arrive Saturday at 5:05 a. m.

SEIGEL TO LEAD CADETS.

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 13.—(AP) Louis Seigel, of Richmond, met the young man to lead V. M. I. out of the football doldrums.

Bill Rafferty, football wizard at the cadet school, has been trying various combinations to develop a scoring punch before the "Keydets" meet Kentucky Saturday.

Seigel, a young sophomore who made his big-time debut against Clemson last week, has been in most of the other members of the squad have been drilled in blocking, tackling and charging.

GOBBLEERS READY.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Nov. 13.—(AP) The full force of the running attack that downed Virginia as well as several new plays and an improved aerial game will be hurled against Maryland at Norfolk Saturday by Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

The Gobblers have drilled hard this week despite rain and special attention has been given a defense against the Chalmers-to-Berger pass combination which has been so successful for Maryland. The Cadet corps will accompany the team.

OLD LINERS TAPER OFF.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 13.—(AP) The University of Maryland Terrapins polished off their preparations for Virginia Polytechnic Institute today with a light scrimmage session. The Taps are to meet the Gobblers, coached by Orville Neale, former Western Maryland star, at Norfolk Saturday. The squad came out of the victorious game with Washington and Lee last week without serious injuries.

AGGIE MORALE SHOT.

STARKVILLE, Miss., Nov. 13.—(AP) The morale of the Mississippi Aggies was reported shot by the stir created by the request of Coach "Red" Cagle for release after next Saturday's game with Auburn so that he could finish the football season as a professional player.

If Cagle carried out his wishes, the team would be forced to go into the annual clash with Ole Miss with another pilot. The team went through a light practice session here this afternoon with the coaching staff striving to bolster them for the Auburn game.

SEWANE ALL SET.

SEWANE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—(AP) The Sewanee football team went through a light practice session here this afternoon in preparation for the game at Columbia, S. C., Saturday with South Carolina, Sewanee's last conference foe for this season.

Today's workout consisted of running signals, punting and passing. The usual lineup is expected to start except Kellerman, guard, and Phillips, fullback. McClure or Jeffries probably will start at fullback.

TIGERS IN GOOD SHAPE.

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 13.—(AP) Under drilling rain Coach Chet Wynne today sent the Plainsmen of Auburn Polytechnic Institute through a light workout and tomorrow the squad will depart for Birmingham for its engagement with Christian College's Mississippi A. & M. Maroons.

The Plainsmen were in good condition and will be at full effectiveness as there are no seriously injured members of the squad.

NEYLAND UNDECIDED.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—(AP) The entire University of Tennessee football squad, including those on crutches, will entrain Friday morning for the big game Saturday with their long time rivals, the Vanderbilt Commodores, at Nashville.

They will spend Friday night at Murfreesboro, moving to the Vanderbilt stadium just before game time.

Coach Bob Neyland said he had not decided on the Vols' lineup. He expressed the belief that all members of the squad will see action Saturday.

L. S. U. LEAVES FOR TIDE.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 13.—(AP) After a week of hard practice sessions on a soggy field in a slow, unceasing rain, 27 members of the Louisiana State football team entrained late today for Montgomery, where L. S. U. will engage the powerful University of Alabama Crimson Tide Saturday.

Coach Russ Cohen has put his charges through stiff workouts daily, with the scrubs impersonating the big Red line. Constant interchange of varsity players against the Alabama formations indicated that Cohen won't rely a lot on frequent substitutions against the heavy Alabamians.

LAVAL UNSATISFIED.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 13.—(AP) Unsatisfied with the showing of his so-called regular backfield, Bill Laval today continued to experiment with his machine as he prepared the South Carolina Gamecocks for the game with Sewanee here Saturday.

Declaring he had no idea who would start in the backfield, Laval said Wiley, Vannamaker, Ayres, Reynolds and King, of his reserves, had been going good, and any of them might be found in the starting lineup.

The Gamecock mentor said he was satisfied, however, with the calling of signals by Monk Shand from his regular tackle position, since the elimination of his backfield ace, Bru Boleau, as the result of a dislocated shoulder suffered in the Furman game.

HARPER MEETS HUMAN TRUCK IN ZAHARIAS

Sensational Wrestling Matches Carded for Tuesday Night.

When Paul Harper and George Zaharias climb through the ropes to begin the semi-windup match to the Bar-tush-Steinborn contest Tuesday night at the auditorium, fans will be set for nothing short of legalized murder.

Zaharias is a big fellow who can get about. He weighs about 230 pounds and is not fat. He is just a young fellow trying to get along and how he does it. He reminds one of a two-ton truck on a spree.

Zaharias is just over 20 years of age. He and Harper are very nearly the same age. Zaharias looks about like Old Man Samson must have looked when he yanked the temple pillars down. He is large enough and strong enough.

GREER STAR.

He is a product of a European wrestling school and after a few years of experience in this country has become one of the many fine young grapplers who are coming along in the game right now.

Paul Harper, who is one of Atlanta's favorites, will be a real foe for the big Greek. Zaharias will have about 20 pounds weight advantage and that may tell. But Harper is a smarter grappler. He knows more.

It should be one of the most spectacular matches, so far as action is concerned, that could be thrown into a ring. It will attract many fans.

THE FEATURE.

The feature, which brings back Bill Bartush and Milo Steinborn in a return bout to settle the one which ended in a foul early last summer, is another which fans know will offer action. Milo Steinborn, the strongest wrestler in the world, will be meeting one of the smarter youngsters who are coming along. Steinborn is unusually strong and Bartush is clever.

The matches will get started with a short preliminary at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters and at the Candler building soda fountain. Ladies will be admitted to any seat in the auditorium for $1.

WOLFPACK LINEUP IN DOUBT.

RALPH, N. C., Nov. 13.—(AP) North Carolina State College coaches may start the regular Wolfpack backfield against Duke but the way things have been going in practice sessions this week a change will not be a big surprise. The Pack and the Blue Devils will clash here Saturday.

Sam Curneau, O'Dell Sharpe, Bob Cook and Snoosey Morris, not classed as regulars, have been seeing much action as the Pack gets ready for the Blue Devil invasion.

Work in the Wolfpack camp today consisted of running Duke plays and practicing new plays.

Southpaw Lack Ruins Hoosiers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 12.—(AP)—It's the lack of left-handed football players, particularly backs, that has kept Indiana's offense from doing damage in the Big Ten this year.

Coach Pat Page is a southpaw and so is his first assistant, Wally Middleworth, and the Hoosiers, when they have had plenty of left-handers, have been drilled on a counter-clockwise system of offense—with the bulk of the running done to the left, whereas right-handed players run best to the right.

Page says Indiana's three straight victories over Northwestern, in 1927-28-29, were accomplished largely because his boys crossed the Wildcats up with left-handed attack. No southpaws this year and Northwestern won, 25 to 0.

might be found but it was slight. Most observers were of the opinion that no clash between the two schools could be hoped for this year.

Chicago After Army-Navy Go.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(UP)—The announcement that the Army is willing to meet the Navy in a post-season football game this season has caused George Getz, chairman of the Illinois unemployment commission, to redouble his efforts to have the game played here at Soldier field.

"If the Army and Navy play football this year," said Getz, "we will leave no stone unturned to have the game here."

Caldwell, also of the faculty; Fred Bartlett, who is coming up to get some ideas about sod from the Franklin field staff, and several newspaper men.

Everything is fine, and if the Yellow Jackets could just get lucky and win the ball game it would be a swell party.

DOCKS TODAY.

The Crescent docks in Philadelphia Friday morning at 8:43 o'clock. The team will be taken to the Green Hill Farms hotel on the outskirts of the city.

It was there that Bobby Jones stopped in 1924 when he first won the national amateur golf championship. That is not a bad omen as far as omen goes.

The team will practice on a field near the hotel.

The game will start at 2 o'clock, eastern standard time, and afterwards the boys will be taken to the Ben Franklin hotel for the night.

They will move over to Washington Sunday for a sightseeing trip, and leave for home on the Birmingham Special which arrives at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning at Peachtree station.

had told them so, but up to now they had not believed him.

Tennessee has a veteran team that knows what it is all about. They lost a game to Alabama then rallied like good football teams usually do and returned to winning games.

Tennessee will give the young Commodores plenty, but I have a hunch the youngsters of the House of McGugin will get right for the first time since the Minnesota game and win. They have a line that can rush the Tennessee passer a mile back down the field and a secondary that can tackle murderously.

Vandy to win, by a small margin.

TARHEELS DRILLED HARD.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 13.—(AP)—An afternoon's scrimmage in the mud was not sufficient drilling for North Carolina's football squad today, in the opinion of Coach Chuck Collins, who held a special practice indoors tonight to teach his team a better offense.

Although North Carolina goes against a non-conference team, Davidson, this week, the Tarheels are pointing for the game because a win will mean another milestone on the road to a state championship.

ONE LONG MATCH. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 13.—(AP)—One thing golf teaches is perseverance. It was the outstanding feature of a match at the Shrine Country Club yesterday.

John Collier and Dr. E. M. Hudson started an 18-hole match in the second flight of the club championship tournament. It ended at the 54th hole with Collier 1 up.

Mellowed A Hundred Million Years

While fearful monsters sported on the shores of PENNSYLVANIA

A HUNDRED MILLION years ago—millions of years before even these strange monsters sported in the seas—nature formed the Bradford-Allegheny oil pool.

That was in the Devonian Age. In this age the conditions of heat, pressure and raw materials in the Bradford-Allegheny District were most favorable to forming high grade crude for lubricating oil—so favorable that today Bradford-Allegheny crude commands the highest price per barrel of all Pennsylvania grade crudes. Just note the prices in any petroleum journal.

When you buy the new, improved Sinclair Mobiline Motor Oil for your car you get a pure

Pennsylvania grade oil that is made 100% from Bradford-Allegheny crude. You get an oil that has gone through the most up-to-date refining processes in the biggest single refinery using Pennsylvania grade crude exclusively—an oil that is triple-filtered, de-waxed at as low as 60° F. below zero—and guaranteed to flow at zero.

Have the nearest Sinclair dealer change your oil to Sinclair Mobiline according to the Sinclair Law of Lubrication. After long, hard driving note how this Mobiline stands up—how it comes out of your crankcase almost as good as it went in. Note, especially, how very little Mobiline has been used up—positive, visible proof that this rich Devonian oil protects the last mile as well as the first!

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

INSTALLMENT XLV.

I should so much like to have a little chat with you about one or two things that have occurred to me. I feel we should all try and help in elucidating this sad mystery. I will come over about half past nine, if I may, and tap on your study window. Perhaps dear Griselda would be so very kind as to run over here and cheer up my nephew. And Mr. Dennis, too, of course, if he cares to come. If I do not hear, I will expect them and will come over myself at the time I have stated.

Yours very sincerely,
JANE MARPLE.

I handed the note to Griselda. "O' well, go," she said cheerfully. "A glass or two of home-made liquor is just what one needs on Sunday evening. I think it's Mary's blanc mange that is so frightfully depressing. It's like something out of a mortuary."

Dennis seemed less charmed at the prospect. "It's all very well for you," he grumbled. "You can talk all this high-brow stuff about art and books. I always feel a perfect fool sitting and listening to you."

"That's good for you," said Griselda serenely. "It puts you in your place. Anyway, I don't think Mr. Raymond West is so frightfully clever as he pretends to be."

Very few of us are, I said. What Griselda called the nephew-amusing-party started off at a little after nine, and whilst I was waiting for Miss Marple to arrive I amused myself by drawing up a kind of schedule of the facts connected with the crime. I arranged them so far as possible in chronological order. I am not a punctual person, but I am a neat one, and I like things jotted down in a methodical fashion.

At half past nine punctually, there was a little tap on the window and I rose and admitted Miss Marple. She had a very fine Shetland shawl thrown over her head and shoulders and was looking rather old and frail. She came in full of little fluttering remarks.

"So good of you to let me come—and so good of dear Griselda—Raymond admires her so much—the perfect Greuze he always calls her. Shall I sit here? I am not taking your chair? O! thank you—no, I won't have a footstool."

I deposited the Shetland shawl on a chair and returned to take a chair facing my guest. We looked at each other, and a little deprecating smile broke out on her face.

"I feel that you must be wondering why—I am so interested in all this. You may possibly think it's very unwomanly. No—please—I should like to explain it if I may."

She paused a moment, a pink color suffusing her cheeks. "You see," she began at last, "living alone as I do, in a rather out-of-the-way part of the world, one has to have a hobby. There is, of course, woodwork, and quilts, and welfare, and sketching, but my hobby is—and always has been—human nature. So varied—and so fascinating. And, of course, in a small village, with nothing to distract me, one has such ample opportunity for becoming what I might call proficient in one's study. One begins to classify people, quite definitely, just as though they were birds or flowers, group so and so, genus this, species that. Sometimes, of course, one makes mistakes, but less and less as time goes on. And then, too, one tests oneself. One takes a little problem—for instance the gill of picked shrimps that amused dear Griselda so much—a quite unimportant mystery, but absolutely incomprehensible unless one solves it right."

"And then," Miss Marple continued, "there was that matter of the changed gun drops, and the butcher's wife's umbrella—the last absolutely meaningless unless one has the assumption that the greengrocer was not behaving at all nicely with the chemist's wife—which, of course, turned out to be the case. It is so fascinating, you know, to apply one's judgment and find that one is right."

"You usually are, I believe," I said smiling. "That I am afraid, is what has made me a little conceited," confessed Miss Marple. "But I have always wondered whether, if some day a really big mystery came along, I should be able to do the same thing. I mean—just solve it correctly. Logically, it ought to be exactly the same thing. After all a tiny working model of a torpedo is just the same as a real torpedo."

"You mean it's all a question of relativity," I said slowly. "It should be—logically, I admit. But I don't know whether it really is."

"Surely it must be the same," said Miss Marple. "The—what one used to call the factors at school—the same. There's money, and mutual attraction between people of an—er—opposite sex—and then there's queerness, of course—so many people are a little queer, aren't they?—in fact, most people are when you know them well. And normal people are sometimes so very sane and ordinary. In fact, the only way is to compare people with other people you have known or come across. You'll be surprised if you know how very few distinct types there are in all."

"You frighten me," I said. "I feel I'm being put under the microscope. 'Of course, I wouldn't dream of saying any of this to Colonel Melchett—such an autocratic man, isn't he?—and poor Inspector Black—well, he's exactly like the young lady in the boot shop who wants to sell you pat-leather because she's got it in your case, and doesn't take any notice of the fact that you want brown calf.'"

That really is a very good description of Black," I said. "But you, Mr. Clement, I thought, if we could work together—"

"I wonder," I said. "I think each one of us in his secret heart fancies himself as Sherlock Holmes."

Then I told her of the three summonses I had received that afternoon. I told her of Anne's discovery of the picture with the slashed face. I also told her of Miss Marple's attitude at the police station, and I described Haydock's identification of the crystal I had picked up.

"Having found that myself," I finished up. "I should like it to be important. But it's probably got nothing to do with the case."

"I have been reading a lot of American detective stories from the library lately," said Miss Marple, "hoping to find them helpful."

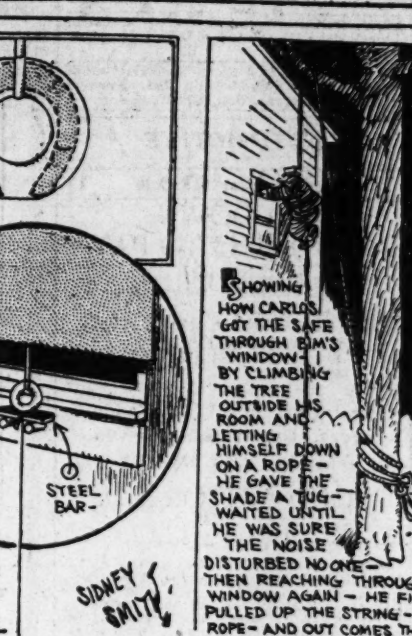

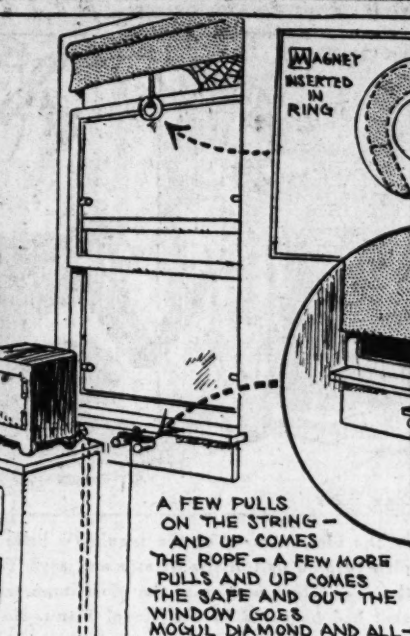

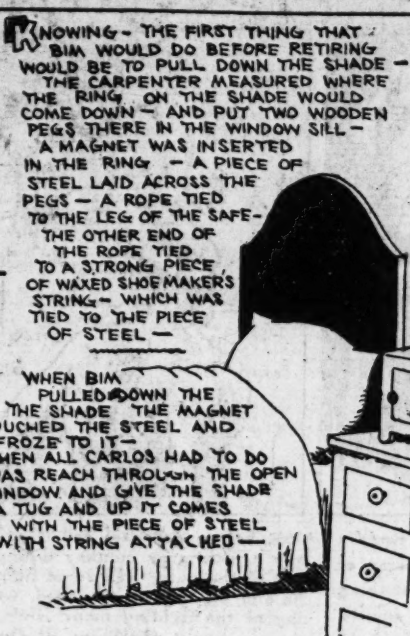

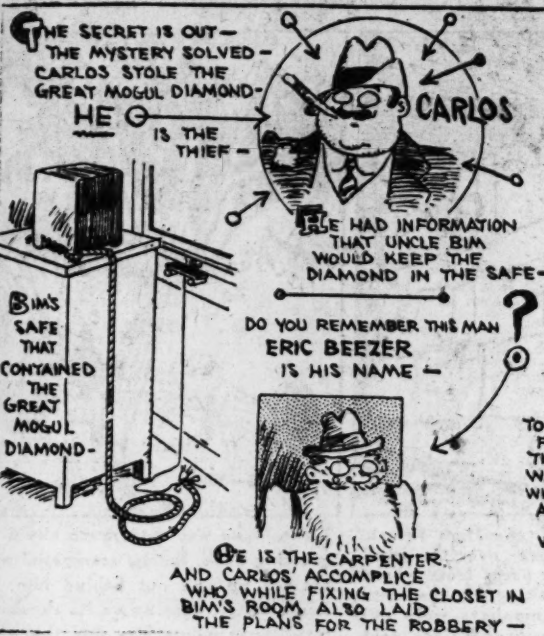

"What're anything in them about picnic acid?"

"I'm afraid not. I do remember reading a story once, though, in which a man was poisoned by picnic acid and lanoline being rubbed on him as an ointment."

Then I took up my schedule and handed it to her. "I've tried," I said, "to recapitulate the facts of the case as clearly as possible."

MY SCHEDULE.
Thursday, 21st inst.
12:30 A. M.—Colonel Protheroe alters his appointment from six to six fifteen. Overhead by half village very probably.
12:45—Pistol last seen in its proper place. (But this is doubtful, as Mrs. Archer had previously said she could not remember.)
5:30 (Approx.)—Colonel and Mrs. Protheroe leave Old Hall for village in car.
5:30—Pike call put through to me from the East Lodge, Old Hall.
6:15 (for a minute or two earlier)—Colonel Protheroe arrives at vicarage. Is shown into study by Mary.
6:20—Mrs. Protheroe comes along back lane and across garden to study window. Colonel Protheroe not visible.
6:20—Call from Lawrence Redding's cottage put through to Mrs. Price Ridley. According to Exchange.
6:20:45—Shot heard. (Accepting telephone call time as correct.) Lawrence Redding, Anne Protheroe and Dr. Stone's evidence seem to point to his being earlier, but Mrs. P. R. probably right.
6:45—Lawrence Redding arrives vicarage and finds the body.
6:48—I meet Lawrence Redding.
6:49—Body discovered by me.
6:55—Haydock examines body.
